David Ottestad, Musician
Answer Sheet

1. Started piano in 3rd grade. Agreed to take piano until he was 18, went to Broadway and ballet shows, classical music, played guitar, and learned drums on his own.
2. Thanked her for making him take piano lessons until he was 18. He learned music theory and how to write music.
3. In 8th grade a guy was putting "weed" in his shoe after selling it. He told David that if he told anyone he would kill him with a knife. This made David dislike drug users and dealers even more.
4. He thought the people at parties acted "dumb," and they couldn't talk right. He knew he didn't want to be like that.
5. Bottles everywhere. It was a mess. He thinks that this stereotype or false judgment about someone isn't true at all. He does not want to be like that.
6. He discusses his faith. This is his strongest value.
7. They are not on key; they stumble around in front of everyone.
8. Connecting to people through music is David's natural high.
